

Hi, my name is Nash Karanouh. I'm 15 years old and a resident of Lynden, Washington. I have three brothers and two sisters. I was born in Beirut, Lebanon on October 6th. I spent several years in Lebanon and then moved to Canada where the rest of my family resided. Several years later, I moved to Utah, where I stayed for a year or so. I then moved back to Canada for three or so years. Then I moved once again, this time to Lynden, the last place I'd ever expect myself to end up. I am currently a sophomore at Lynden High School. My graduation is set for 2013. I am taking a variety of classes to sharpen my skills for my career as a future graphic designer. I love to read and write stories, as well as work with Photoshop and Illustrator on my computer. I'm an avid student, I work hard for my grades, and I am proud of all that I have accomplished. My favorite subjects are Multimedia and English (can't decide which is predominant).

I am a healthy eater, I exercise (insanely!) everyday, and I am aiming for a fulfilling life.
